

ERATO Lab Open House
May 3(Sat), 2014

We welcomed the public at our lab open house, as part of Osaka University Icho Festival.

This time we introduced our research on bacteriorhodopsin, a membrane protein that acts as a light-driven proton pump by using the real sample. Many people including elementary and junior high school students visited and listened to us with keen interest.

